Overview of Ministry

Growers First equips isolated indigenous family farmers to undertake long term economic and community development through outreach and partnerships that work to achieve holistic sustainability.

Currently, Growers First is working in remote areas of Mexico, Honduras, Indonesia and Rwanda to make noticeable improvements in the lives of indigenous people on a personal, social and economical level.

We believe that the future of remote families, communities and the environment in which they live will be sustainable only by imparting the gospel, training good stewardship principles and practicing compassion. Through the advancement of our vision, we are demonstrating our love for our neighbor and extending a helping hand in friendship to the poor, as Jesus calls us to do.

Potential TBG Opportunities to Get Involved

- Share the Growers First story with your church, bible study, community group and businesses.
- Help organize a team from your church to participate in a Growers First short term missions trip.
- Organize a prayer team to intercede on behalf of Growers First farmers, their families and communities.
- Check with the Growers First office for a current list of common supplies and tools that can be collected to help Growers First farming families.
- Volunteer your time and talents in our Newport office. Help our staff with answering phones, data input, preparing announcements and invitations, event planning and scheduling and travel logistics.
